NAIITS / GFES

Our goal is to develop and instruct from a body of theology and biblical teaching—that resonates with the culture and traditions of Native North Americans. For generations, Native North Americans have believed Christian faith required them to become like Euro North Americans. Many still do! They lived the false dichotomy of belief that a fulfilled relationship with God required rejection of their own culture and the adoption of another. In best-case scenarios Native North Americans struggle to embrace God in the Christianity of a secularized western culture. In the worst case, they have rejected God in Christ because of western Christianity’s perceived cultural requirements.

NAIITS’/GFES’ focus, therefore, is on:

- Developing mentored theological and biblical research, writing and study programs that address missional, theological and biblical issues from the perspective of Indigenous Christians.
- Working cooperatively with Indigenous and non-Indigenous partners including colleges, universities, seminaries, mission societies, Native ministries and others committed to realizing the leadership potential of Indigenous people in Canada and the United States.

Traditionally, Native People did not talk about spirituality or faith, nor did they build complex theologies. They simply lived what they believed. It was expected that one would live in such a way as to acknowledge and honor their Creator. Theology was practice!

In the 21st century, however, much has changed. Now we find we must speak to our own people of our faith in God, of walking out life in a good way. We must share our understanding of God’s Word in new ways. We need forums for dialogue and teaching in theology, missiology and biblical issues.

New approaches to concerns such as ethics and AIDS, lifestyle and family, community and commitment must be developed in authentically Native ways.

While our desire is to strengthen people of faith in Native communities, we understand that faith and community are interconnected. Evangelism is therefore an important outcome of our work. So is intercultural mission. The work of NAIITS equips people to speak the Good News of Jesus Christ to others – regardless of ethnicity, traditions, culture or language. The partnership in offering this MA degree in Intercultural Studies takes this work a step further.

We are committed to the historic message as a contemporary one – necessary for today’s generation

- Our context is informal and formal
- Our methods employ a wide range of disciplines
- Our studies embrace the traditionally academic, while observing the traditions and learning styles of Aboriginal people
- Our strength is in the learning dialogue – telling the story of what God is doing among us
- Our prayer is to hear in our people, not just their words but also their heart

Statement of Faith

Jesus Christ is the cornerstone of both history and change. But he does not come first to change the outer self – he comes to change the inner. Then the Spirit and the Word transform the outer for God’s purposes. And God never leads astray. Allowing the Spirit of God to hold us true to the Scriptures will permit us to understand and discern more fully the meaning and value of our traditions and history.

The Gospel has the power to transform life, to create a new world. Only it can revitalize confused lives, those who have lost their culture and traditions, their identity and their pride, into such a potent demonstration of Good News we are called to carry to others.

The Institute for Indigenous Theological Studies is a Christian mission which upholds the formational articles of faith that:

The Nature of God. We believe in one eternal God, the source and goal of life, who exists as three persons in one: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. In love and joy, God creates and sustains the universe, including humanity, male and female, who are made in God’s image.

God the Father. We believe in God the Father Almighty, whose love is the foundation of salvation and righteous judgment, and who calls us into covenant relationship with God and with one another.

God the Son. We believe in Jesus Christ, the Word, who is fully God and fully human. He came to show us God and perfect humanity, and, through his life, death, and resurrection, to reconcile us to God. He is now actively present with us as Savior, Teacher, Lord, Healer, and Friend.

God the Holy Spirit. We believe in the Holy Spirit, who breathed God’s message into the prophets and apostles, opens our eyes to God’s Truth in Jesus Christ, empowers us for holy living, and carries on in us the work of salvation.

Salvation. We believe that salvation comes through Jesus Christ alone, to whom we must respond with repentance, faith, and obedience. Through Christ we come into a right relationship with God, our sins are forgiven, and we receive eternal life.

The Bible. We believe that God inspired the Bible and has given it to us as the uniquely authoritative, written guide for Christian living and thinking. As illumined by the Holy Spirit, the Scriptures are true and reliable. They point us to God, guide our lives, and nurture us toward spiritual maturity.

Following Jesus. We believe that God has called us to be and to make disciples of Jesus Christ and to be God’s agents of love and reconciliation in the world. In keeping with the teaching of Jesus, we seek peace and justice in human relationships and social structures.

The Church. We believe in the Church as the people of God, composed of all who believe in Jesus Christ, who support and equip each other through worship, teaching, and accountability, who model God’s loving community, and who proclaim the gospel to the world.

Christian Worship. We believe Christ is present as we gather in his name, seeking to worship in spirit and in truth. All believers are joined in the one body of Christ, are baptized by the Spirit, and live in Christ’s abiding presence. Christian baptism and communion are dynamic spiritual realities, and, as Christians from many faith traditions, we celebrate these in different ways.

The Future. We believe in the personal return of Jesus Christ, in the resurrection of the dead, in God’s judgment of all persons with perfect justice and mercy, and in eternal reward and punishment. Ultimately, Christ’s kingdom will be victorious over all evil, and the faithful will reign with him in eternal life.
